A RECENT SUCCESS

CARA has been selected to receive a 3-year contract from the New York City School Construction Authority (SCA) to provide Business Development Training Services for Third and Fourth Year MWLBE Mentor Firms and Graduate Mentor Firms. The goal of this Program is to transfer in-depth business knowledge and leadership skills that support the growth and development of participant firms to successfully perform work for the SCA and NY State construction industry.

We thank the SCA for recognizing our unwavering commitment to the minority, women-owned and small business community.

GOOD TIDINGS!

As we celebrate Thanksgiving with family, friends, food and football, let's take time to reflect about all that we are grateful for – health, community, and success. Way too often, success gets ahead of gratitude and we realize that we haven't thanked those who make us successful every day. This is most common at the work place where under pressures of project deadlines, routine tasks and diverse opinions, we neglect to show appreciation and give positive feedback that are essential to building relationships and trust for teamwork and improving organizational efficiencies.

We owe our success to the people we work with throughout the year; we innovate, communicate and solve problems while staying committed to working together in a professional and efficient manner. That has been the underlying philosophy of CARA. We thank you for making us realize our vision every single day.

“As we express gratitude, we must never forget that the highest appreciation is not to utter words, but to live by them.”
